

Michelle Saylor

Dr. Michelle Saylor is the Assistant Superintendent of the Bellefonte Area School District. In the past she has served as the Director of Curriculum and Instruction and Professional Development, and as a building administrator at both the middle school and high school levels. She has taught High School English as well as writing and composition, and Literature for both Bloomsburg University and Penn State University. Michelle is a member of the executive board for the Pennsylvania Council for International Education and is a staunch advocate for building global competence in our faculty and students. She serves as the director for the North Central West Region of PASA's Women's Caucus and is a member of the curriculum committee for PASCDC. Additionally she serves as secretary on the steering committee for the Bellefonte Downtown Revitalization Project. She was an exchange administrator through the Chinese Exchange Initiative and spent time visiting China and learning about the Chinese educational system.

She received her undergraduate degree in English and her teaching certificate grades 6-12 from Bloomsburg University, her Master degree in English from the University of Scranton, her Master degree in Education and principal's certificate from the California University of PA, and her Doctorate and superintendent's letter of eligibility from Widener University. She has done post graduate work at LaSalle University, University of South Florida, and Penn.

In her spare time she loves to travel, take long walks with her golden retriever, read, and dabble in photography.

Michelle lives in Bellefonte, Pa with her husband Peter. They have three grown children.
