

Pamela McCartney

Pamela McCartney is the current Director of Instructional Services at Lancaster-Lebanon Intermediate Unit 13 where she oversees programs serving adult learners and school-age students in both public and nonpublic schools. Prior to that, Pamela served as the program director for K-12 curriculum and instruction, a school improvement specialist, a member of the Pennsylvania Value-Added Assessment Services (PVAAS) statewide core team, a professional development specialist and school psychologist. Pamela educational background includes a B.S. in Sociology from Franklin and Marshall College, an M.S in Psychology and School Psychology certification from Millersville University, principal certification from Penn State, and her superintendent's letter of eligibility from Edinboro University. Her educational experiences include extensive experience in dealing with diverse learners, as well as best practices in curriculum and instruction and data-informed decision-making.