

Michael Webb

Mike Webb currently serves as the Director of Quality Schools at Delaware County Intermediate Unit (DCIU), a regional education services agency in suburban Philadelphia. In this role, he designs, coordinates, and delivers professional learning and consultation services to educators and administrators from the fifteen member school districts, charter schools, and non-public schools in Delaware County. He also serves as co-lead of the Pennsylvania Association of Intermediate Unit Curriculum Coordinators (PAIU CC). In this capacity, Mike works as a liaison with the Department of Education and the other 28 intermediate units throughout the Commonwealth in the development and dissemination of statewide curriculum and instruction initiatives. He has also worked as Director of Curriculum, Instruction, and Assessment and Curriculum Coordinator for DCIU and taught French and Spanish in both southwestern and southeastern PA in public and non-public environments. He is in the final stages of his dissertation, titled Perceptions of MOOC Learning for Employability: Public Education as Microcosm.
