

Jennifer Polinchock

Dr. Jennifer Polinchock is the assistant superintendent in the Centennial School District located in Bucks County Pennsylvania. She received her doctor of education degree in educational leadership from Lehigh University. In addition, she holds a masters of education degree in educational leadership from Delaware Valley University, a masters of education degree in language and education from the University of Pennsylvania, and a bachelor of arts degree in English and secondary education from La Salle University. Dr. Polinchock has twelve years of administrative experience at the building level and district level. Currently, her main responsibilities include leading school-based and district-wide program development, supervising professional and administrative personnel, and developing and implementing school district policy and procedures. Among various projects, Dr. Polinchock has implemented a revised middle school program of studies, developed a differentiated supervision model for professional staff, developed and staffed an instructional coaching model, and initiated a district-wide literacy focus to complement Future Ready. Dr. Polinchock lives in Chalfont, Pennsylvania with her husband and two children.