

Sarah Stoessel Heres

Sarah Stoessel Heres is an active community volunteer working on behalf of organizations from public education, the local library, food insecurity programs, pediatric oncology, to refugee resettlement programs. An elected school director for the Quaker Valley School Board since 2007, the past four years as the President after serving as Vice President for three years. A trustee of the Sewickley Public Library board since 2009. Food insecurity volunteer work with Northside Common Ministries food pantry and through the GPFB Produce to People program. Additional leadership roles in school and church organizations, booster clubs, and Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh Foundation help define a career as a community volunteer. Prior to this was a career in higher education fund raising and college admissions. A graduate of Boston University, Questrom School of Business, Sarah resides in Sewickley, PA with her husband Ed and three adult children.